What's New in the Emoticon Status Generator?

Emoticon Status Generator For Yahoo is a free status chat utility that converts emoticons into the status update you want to share. Emoticons can be dragged from the right panel and dropped onto the left panel and will display the emoticon there. You can even combine them into one status update, make a witty one-liner, send an incomplete message or create an interesting sentence out of it. How to use Emoticon Status Generator: Click on the Emoticon Status Generator icon and select the emoticons you want to create a status update from the right panel. In the left panel you will see a list of emoticons that you have selected. Use the left panel to drag and drop the emoticons there. Once you have them selected, they will appear on the right panel. The emoticons will appear in the order you have selected them in the left panel. The emoticons can be combined with a line break and they can even be duplicated to generate more emoticons. There are options to enable and disable single and multi-use emoticons. A blank emoticon will convert into a line break, so that you can add a single line emoticon. A number of emoticons will convert into a period (.) when they are combined. You can also include a variable inside the text, you can generate full sentences by using this technique. For example, "$20 per hour" will convert to $$20 per hour. When a single use emoticon is selected, you will get an identical copy. When multiple use emoticons are selected you will get only one copy, but the emoticons will be replaced by the next one if the one before the replace the color change. For example, if you have ":(", ":(", ":(", ":o" and ":(", when you select the last emoticon you will get ":(", which means the previous emoticons are replaced with this emoticon. After you have the emoticons you want in your status update you click on the Send button, the emoticon will be converted to the status you want and it will be added to the chat window where the status chat was selected in the first place. After this you will have a new status update. If you right-click on it, you will be able to modify it, like in the left panel. If you double-click on it, you will be presented with the same right panel as in the beginning. What's New: An
